Communicating With Brazilians When Yes

So great is their cordiality that Brazilians will say "yes" to almost any request—even when they actually mean "no"—which can be quite confusing for U.S. visitors who are used to a more direct style of communication.

Communicating with Brazilians: When "Yes" Means "No ...

The easy friendliness of Brazilians requires commitment and imposes obligations that foreigners may find unexpected, unfamiliar, or undesirable. The sometimes informal style of communication is undergirded by a hierarchical system in which everyone has a place and keeps to it, to avoid striking any note of discord in personal interactions.

Across Cultures: Communicating with Brazilians

Successful business dealings in Brazil depends very much upon having a keen perception of the commercial culture of the country. Brazilians prefer face-to-face meetings to written communication as it allows them to know the person with whom they are doing business. The individual they deal with is more important than the company.
