The timing chain does indeed need replaced, but not until around 100k miles depending on the type of driving the car got. I think hyundai recommends changing it at 80 or 100k miles. I would at least take it to be inspected. The pulleys and tensioners wear out over time, and will eventually let the chain develop slack.

Hyundai. You should replace the timing belt on your Hyundai about every 60,000 miles. If you have a long commute or travel often in extreme weather, you may also have to replace its water pump at the same time. While that can be a costly repair package, preventative maintenance will save you thousands over time.
